

RECORD BREAKER.

IMMENSE ATTENDANCE AT THE COUNTY FAIR.

At Least Ten Thousand People On the Grounds—The Attractions Seemed to Be Pleasing—The Racing a Special Feature.

It has been many years since the directors of the Stark county fair have been gladdened by an attendance as large as that of Thursday. Early in the morning the people commenced to arrive in buggies, wagons and street cars. All day long they kept coming. The large and commodious grounds, however, took them all in, and no one was crowded. The place set apart for buggies and teams was filled early in the forenoon. In the afternoon the Canton people came to the fair six or loads at a time. Massillon and Alliance also contributed their quota of the big attendance.

The interesting events in the forenoon were the exhibition drills by the uniformed military and civil societies. The drills were given by Companies F, L and I of the Eighth regiment, O. N. G., the Uniformed Rank K. of P. of Canton, Knights of St. John and the Patriarchs Militant of Canton. In the military drill Company L, with a squad of Zouaves, made the best showing, although Company I made the best appearance with the regular manual drill. The Knights of St. John and the U. R. K. P. divided the honors in the other drill, although the Patriarchs Militant made a very handsome showing. The drill was preceded by a handsome parade of the troops by all of the companies, led by the G. A. band.

One of the features of the Stark county fair peculiar to itself, is the daily parade of the live stock on exhibition. Until the society gets a new horse barn erected this daily parade is the only chance that the visitors have of seeing the horses, as the balance of the time they are kept securely locked in their stalls. It was at the commencement of the parade Thursday when the only accident of the day happened. Marshal Albright had taken the G. A. band over to the quarter gate, when Al. Reed, who was driving Emory Miller's horse, Denver, ran into the band, knocking George Dages, one of the players, down, tearing his uniform and damaging his features. Reed drove on without stopping to see whether the man was injured or not.

The races, however, were the principal features of the day. Three races were on the card and one of them, the 2:21 trot, was still unfinished when the day was ended.

There were only four starters in the 2:40 trot and Callado was drawn in the second heat, having gone lame. Denver, owned by Emory Miller, of Alliance, had the speed of the party, but was not allowed to go, as they did not desire to get a mark. The race was exciting from the effort that was made by Florence, a late entry. Smithfield Maid won the first two heats, Denver carrying Florence very wide both times. The third heat was won by Florence after an exciting drive on the home stretch. The fourth and fifth heats went to Florence without any trouble. Summary:

2:40 class, trotting, purse $150.
Florence, bkm (Fenn), 3 3 1 1 1
Smithfield Maid (Spelman) 1 1 2 3 3
Denver (Reed), 2 2 3 3 3
Callado (Mortimer), 4 4 4 4 4
Time, 2:24 1/2, 2:29 1/2, 2:29 1/2, 2:30 1/2, 2:32.

The 2:30 pacing race was a very pretty horse race although it was won by Baby Ruth in straight heats. All the drivers went out for the money and drove to win the entire mile. Valinda, a fine little bay mare owned in Salem, had lots of speed but was so steadily in scoring that she was always sent away about four lengths in the rear. She was a bad breaker and once she started to run it was almost impossible to get her steady again. Victor L. owned by Henry Leonard of this city, won third money and went a very pretty mile in the second heat, finishing second after a great burst of speed on the home stretch. Summary:

2:30 class, pacing, purse $250.
Baby Ruth, a m (Grove), 1 1 1
Razor Blade (Berry), 2 2 2
Victor L. (Croy), 3 3 3
Dairy Maid (Reimann), 4 4 4
Rosa Hal, (Spelman), 5 5 5
Valinda (Burson), 6 6 6
Rally Wilkes (Forbes), 7 7 7
Time, 2:21 1/2, 2:21 1/2, 2:20 1/2.

The 2:21 trot, with but three starters, proved to be quite a horse race, and when darkness came was still unfinished. Max T., who had won a good race at Rockport on Tuesday, was picked by the knowing ones for the winner. He struck himself in the second heat, cutting his quarter badly, but this did not hinder him from winning the third heat in a handy manner.

2:21 class, trotting, purse $250. (Unfinished.)
Wilkin (Armstrong), 1 1 2
Max T. (Mortimer), 2 3 1
Clem (Rice), 3 2 2
Time, 2:25, 2:24 1/2, 2:23 1/2.

WILKIN WINS.

The deciding heat in the 2:21 trot this afternoon was won by Wilkin. Max T. was sent away when off his feet and there was much kicking. Wilkin was only by a nose. The money goes: Wilkin first, Max T. second, Clem third. The heat this afternoon was trotted in 2:23 1/2.

FRIDAY, LAST DAY.

The fair closed last evening and it has been a wonderful success. It seemed to be the policy of the management to have only the best of everything and that accounted for the interest maintained to the last minute. After the record breaking attendance of Thursday it is a monument to the fair management and the exhibits, music and other necessary attractions that the crowd Friday numbered over 5,000 people. The paid admissions Thursday numbered more than 8,000.

THE RACES.

The races, as usual, were the principal amusement of the day and were of the kind that interested everybody, both young and old. The first event on the card was the unfinished 2:31 trot. This was decided in one heat, Wilkin finishing first in 2:23 1/2. Following this the 2:38 trot was called and brought out five starters, with Clem at the pole. They got away without much scoring. Clem keeping his place the entire mile with Amelin a close second. The second heat was the same. In the third Frank N. went after the place and captured it. Summary:

2:38 class, trotting, purse $300.
Clem (Rice), 1 1 1
Amelia (Croy), 2 3 5
Frank N. (Chaffin), 3 3 3
Jimline R. (Holtzman), 4 5 3
Auctioneer (Lamborn), 5 4 4
Time, 2:39 1/2, 2:39 1/2, 2:39 1/2.

The 2:30 trot brought out four starters and was the most interesting race of the fair. John B., owned by Bostick & Yost, of Canton, won in straight heats. He was handled by Croy, who is one of the best drivers that has been up behind a horse in Stark county this season. Mr. Croy also drove Victor L. in the 2:30 pace on Thursday. He has made many warm friends in Canton and it will be pleasing news to them to learn that he will move his family here from Elton Ind., and make this his permanent home. He will have charge of a number of local horses during the winter and will track them next season.

The second heat of the 2:30 trot was one of the prettiest races ever witnessed on the Canton track. The last half John B. and John Dine went side by side until near the wire, when Croy gave John B. the word and he scored about half a length ahead of John Dine. The third heat was a race between Hazel Welsh and John Dine for second place, Dine winning in a nice finish. Summary:

2:30 class, trotting, purse $300.
John B. (Croy), 1 1 1
John Dine (Reed), 2 3 1
Hazel Welsh (Holtzman), 3 3 3
Mickey C. (Mortimer), 4 4 4
Time, 2:29 1/2, 2:29 1/2, 2:29 1/2.

OTHER FEATURES.

The chariot race by the Fostnought combination was one thing that pleased everybody. The woman won the race and was given a hearty ovation. The hurdle race was also a pleasing event. On the first half one of the horses got beyond control of the rider and bolted for the gate leading to the stables. Finding it closed the animal jumped the fence, falling and throwing the rider. Neither was injured. In jumping the hurdle in front of the grand stand the horse tripped and fell again, throwing his rider, but fortunately he escaped injury, got up, secured the horse and rode to the barn amid great applause.

The fair was closed with a farmer's race with three entries. Prince, by Wagner; George Douglas, by Harry Smith, and Jack, by H. Baldwin. This was a half-mile dash, beat two in three. Smith cut after the first heat, leaving the race to Prince and Jack. Jack had but little trouble in winning the race in straight heats.

FARMER ASSIGNS.

Hanna's Particular Kind of Prosperity Doesn't Pay Off the Farm Mortgage.

Samuel M. Kendel, a Jackson township farmer, filed a deed of assignment in probate court Monday morning at 7 o'clock. Charles A. Kridler is named as assignee. The assets are placed at $3,500, liabilities the same.

Probate Court.

Will of Joseph W. Bramhall, of Minerva, admitted to probate and widow elected to take under will.

Appraisal of estate ordered.

In estate of David T. Williams, of Alliance. John J. Snyder appointed administrator of George C. Walt, of Osnaburg township.

Final account filed in the guardianship of Laura Hartenstein, Canton.

A. L. Creighton appointed guardian of Alva, Raymond and Royal Waltz, Osnaburg.

The will of Franklin Y. Erb, of Tuscarawas township, has been admitted to probate and the widow elected to take under the will. Nathan E. Moffit has been appointed executor of the estate.

The widow of Michael LeBeau, of Canton, has elected to take under the provisions of the will.

The second partial account has been filed by the trustee in the estate of Benjamin Hershey, of Lawrence township.

The will of Elizabeth Morgan, of Alliance, has been filed for probate. The will leaves the entire estate to Thomas R. Morgan but as he died before the testatrix the estate will pass according to the laws of Ohio as if there were no will.

Entertained at Alliance.

Osnaburg, Oct. 4, 1897. Molly Stark Coffey, No. 60, B. of A., of Alliance, entertained on Tuesday evening, Sept. 28, visiting sisters Miss Cora Wercet and Mrs. John Zaber and brothers William Duncan and Frank Shenke, of Pride of Liberty Council, No. 49, of Osnaburg. After the initiation of Bro. Blackford, of Marlboro, quite a few interesting remarks were made by visitors, after which a royal good time, as only Molly Stark knows how to give, was greatly appreciated by the visitors. The lunch was second to none. Molly Stark is strictly up to date and their work is excellent. The visitors wish them God-speed.

L.

If strength is what you want, you should study what causes your weakness. It is practically lack of food.

But you eat your food, don't you? Yes, but do you digest it? Food undigested, is not food. It is not nourishment.

It doesn't create strength. To digest your food take Shaker Digestive Cordial at meals. After a while you will digest your food without it. Then you will get well, and strong and healthy.

Shaker Digestive Cordial cures indigestion and all its symptoms, such as nausea, headache, eructations, pain in the stomach, giddiness, loss of appetite, etc. It makes your food nourish you, and makes you strong and fat and hearty. Druggists sell it. Trial bottle 10 cents.

REORGANIZATION

EFFECTED AT A ROUSING MEETING LAST NIGHT.

Free Silver Forces Meet and Listen to Able Speeches—General Sherwood Makes Pointed Answer to Questions Propounded to Him.

The large rooms of the silver club in the East block were last evening filled to overflowing. Members of the different silver clubs of the city were present and the Women's Union was well represented. It was a gathering of those who believed in the restoration of silver to its true position among the money metals of the country and the enthusiasm displayed showed clearly that the cause of the people was eminently before the people and that no stone would be left unturned to restore the currency of the country to the basis upon which the country prospered in reality and not only in the meaningless terms of heartless, corrupt and greed-seeking politicians. The men who were present at the meeting last evening were the determined champions of a cause true to the great mass of humanity, men who worked close to the heater for the good of their common all.

The meeting organized by electing Henry Warner, a man always in the harness, permanent chairman. F. A. Kessler was elected secretary. The speakers of the evening were invited to seats on the platform and in a neat speech Chairman Warner introduced Mayor Rice.

His Honor spoke of the demonstration being metropolisally the fire necessary to set the pot boiling. The gold people were trying to keep back the silver issue, but the adherents of free silver should not be deceived but should make the effort of their lives to win the day for the white metal.

He predicted the removal of greenbacks by the coming congress if it should be Republican, and the establishment of gold as the only currency. After paying a splendid tribute to Gen. Warner, who, he said, stood without a peer on the subject of finance, Mayor Rice gave way to that distinguished, veteran of the stump Gen. I. R. Sherwood. With his vast fund of information and wealth of political lore, the General's speech proved to be fully up to the high expectations of the audience. His arraignment of the trouble losses and their deplorable methods chilled the blood of every patriot.

No one listened to the truthful fervor, though short speech of General Sherwood without feeling every drop of honest blood in his veins tingle with indignation. During his discourse he was interrupted by those who desired information on several points incorporated in his speech. The general proved to be fully equal to the task, and disseminated knowledge at a pace which dispelled all shadows from the minds of those seeking the truth on subjects patent to the disturbed times.

He said that the record of the present congress is the most extravagant and reckless in all the history of congresses. The appropriations are larger by over fifty millions than ever before known. They gave us a tariff bill that was dictated by the trusts and which promises, within the next twelve months, to be the most unsatisfactory and unpopular measure enacted since the war, in fact more unpopular and unsatisfactory than the repudiated McKinley bill, that wrecked the Republican party in three successive elections.

Besides that, it is a deficit breeder. The deficiency under the Dingley bill for the month of August and the first three weeks of September aggregates the enormous sum of $18,000,000, which is almost $7,000,000 more than the Wilson bill deficit for the same months last year, in the midst of the all-pervading distress of a Presidential campaign.

Gen. Sherwood discussed Mark Hanna's political methods with great earnestness and effectiveness. He said he was not only the most audacious boodler that had ever before appeared in American politics, but he was the ablest, the most reckless and the most shameless. He not only sought to bribe poor voters to vote directly for his party and himself, but he had gone into a convention of an opposition party and by boodle methods had doubtless put enough men into the late Populist state convention to change the character and purposes of that convention from an ally of the Chicago platform to an ally of Mark Hanna and Gov. Bushnell, by diverting votes sure for the Democratic silver party to a candidate of their own, thereby dividing and demoralizing the force naturally arrayed against the yellow Moloch of the gold standard. The result of these manipulations was the nomination of Jacob Coxey for governor.

After Gen. Sherwood's speech, Allen Cook desired to ask a question and Gen. Sherwood agreed to answer it. Mr. Cook claimed Gen. Sherwood had said that Mark Hanna and his money had nominated Coxey. Gen. Sherwood told Mr. Cook he had not questioned the integrity of Coxey, but claimed that had the Populist convention been left to its own counsels, without corrupt influence, it would surely have endorsed fusion, as it did last year, as all the conditions were just the same and the demand for such action much more urgent. Gen. Sherwood said he made no charges of corruption against Coxey or any other individual, as he had not the proof, but he asked Mr. Cook if he did not concede that Mark Hanna's check book did not figure in that convention. Mr. Cook conceded that such waste was fair.

Attorney James Sterling was next introduced and as usual a telling speech was delivered. Mr. Sterling said: "I am willing to help a good cause. In the sense of old line Democracy I am no Democrat, but in the sense of Democracy as expounded by the Chicago platform and championed by that peerless leader, William J. Bryan, then I am a Democrat. No one supported that noble man more enthusiastically than I did. He is undoubtedly the greatest statesman America has ever produced. I detect a politician. A politician is to the country what gamblers are to a community. They are the tools of tyrants and a curse to the country, whether inside or outside of the white house. If to believe in the Chicago platform is to be a Democrat, then I might be classed as a Democrat. It is an unpleasant thing to see a division among those who worked together last fall, and I hope that the forces may be welded with strong bands. The people made a great fight, but they were bodied out of victory."

Mr. Sterling said he had never seen Mark Hanna but he believed the cartoon flattered him. He paid a splendid tribute to the talents of Judge Blain, of Cleveland, whom he said would make a strong man for the United States senate. General Sherwood was also a man for the position—a man of principle and integrity, who would be a rock of adamant against the onslaught of the money bodies. At the mention of General Sherwood as a likely candidate, the audience cheered lustily.

Prosecutor Pomerehne was the next speaker. He said he was heartily in favor of a man for the senate whose qualifications were other than those of the pocket-book. Mark Hanna, the present incumbent, was roundly scored. His fortune had not been amassed by his genius but by the high protection robber tariff. He was not a man fit for the position because no experience of his life made it possible for him to sympathize with the poor and the working classes. The senate has woefully degenerated when men of the Hanna stripe are sent to fill the places once occupied by such men as Clay, Webster and Calhoun.

Mr. Pomerehne gave a lucid talk on the financial question, giving a simple and easily understood illustration of how the money of the country is cornered by the speculators and financiers under the single gold standard. "It is high time we return to true bimetalism," said the speaker. "The old party attempted to apologize by saying they were ignorant of the demonetization of silver, but now they offer no explanation for their conduct. It is essential to the progress of the nation that bimetalism should be restored and the day will surely come when it will be restored if we keep our standard bearer that great leader, William Jennings Bryan, whom we will make the next president of the United States."

There was great applause following Mr. Pomerehne's speech and the meeting, which was full of interest from beginning to end, was dismissed. Meetings will be frequently held by the allied silver forces and the prospects are flattering for a renewal of the old time effort which last spring victoriously swept all before it even in the very "cradle" of alleged prosperity.

DR. C. T. WALKER

Dies at His Home After a Lingering Illness—A Well Known Citizen.

Dr. Columbus T. Walker, a well known citizen of Canton, passed away quietly and peacefully at an early hour Monday morning, after a lingering illness. His trouble was chronic or fibroid phthisis, with tuberculosis of the bowels as a complication. Dr. Walker had really been an invalid for some two years, first from a fall which injured him seriously and from which he never fully recovered. Deceased knew of and realized the conclusion without fear or trembling, and made his peace with God and man, so far as he was concerned or could.

Dr. Walker first saw the light of day at Frederickburg, Md., June 28, 1835, thus passing away at the good age of 72 years, 3 months and 6 days. His father and grandfather were practicing physicians, and he himself took to the profession at the age of twenty. For the past thirty-three years he has been a citizen of Stark county, and for many years of that period had a large and extended practice. It will be seen the profession seems to continue in the family, one generation succeeding another in this line, even to the fourth, in the person of Dr. A. B. Walker, of this city.

Dr. C. T. Walker was a man of energy and indomitable will, and no doubt owing to this and the faithful and devoted attention of his wife, his life was extended. In politics deceased was ever a Democrat of the unswerving kind, being always true to duty in such case made and provided. The funeral services will be held at the Protestant Episcopal church on Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Humphrey Dismissed.

The case of F. P. Kibler against Aloise Humphrey charged with larceny in appropriating about a hundred and fifty bushels of strawberries to apply to a mortgage owned by the latter, was dismissed after a hearing in Squire Darr's court Saturday. The court held that Humphrey, while he might properly be charged with trespassing, was not guilty of larceny. Attorney Wertz represented the defendant.

After the dismissal of the case in Squire Darr's court, Attorney Kibler preferred the same charge against Humphrey in Squire Robertson's court, and Humphrey was re-arrested by Constable Wielandt. He will have a hearing later.

School Dedicated.

The new public school in Osnaburg was dedicated Saturday afternoon. The exercises were held in the building and were participated in by the Junior Mechanics and Daughters of America. A. J. DeHoff, fellowed the address of the occasion. A flag was presented the board of education by the Junior Order and the D. A. gave them a bible. School commenced today with about two hundred and fifty in attendance.

Croup Quickly Cured.

Mountain Glen, Ark.—Our children were suffering with croup when we received a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It afforded almost instant relief.—F. A. Thornton. This celebrated remedy is for sale by C. N. Nye, Cor. Barnett House; Schlabach's Drug Store, 225 N. Market St.; E. L. Johnson, 230 West Tuscarawas St.

GOLDEN GIFTS

AND BEST WISHES SHOWERED UPON A WORTHY COUPLE.

The Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Danner Fittingly Celebrated—Public Reception Tonight—Mrs. Sherwood's Contribution.

Fifty years ago today, John Danner, a thriving young tailor of Massillon, was united in marriage to Miss Teresa Adella Millard, a handsome maiden of Indiana. Miss Millard's home was in Indiana and she was visiting relatives in Massillon when she met the young merchant and fell in love with him. The culmination of their courtship was marriage. It was on a bright Monday morning, just half a century ago today, that they were pronounced husband and wife. On the preceding Saturday night Mr. Danner joined the Massillon Bachelors' club to throw off suspicion of his intention to marry. The scheme worked to perfection and the couple were out of town before their boon companions were aware of the event. After the ceremony a carriage was hired and the happy couple were driven to Cleveland whence they took passage on a lake boat for Buffalo and the east.

While the ceremony that joined Mr. and Mrs. Danner was being performed in Massillon, another ceremony in Canton, created a Mrs. James B. Estep. The quartet of happy young people met in New York city, where they together enjoyed the sights of the big town. Uriah R. Feaster was joined in wedlock the Sunday preceding the day upon which John Danner and James Estep took unto themselves two beautiful young women. Of the sextette, Mr. and Mrs. Danner married to celebrate fifty years of blissful married life.

The family residence at 436 South Market street was beautifully decorated this morning for the wedding breakfast to be served at 11 o'clock. The cards of invitation bore the inscription, "No presents," but it was not heeded, as numerous costly gifts poured in during the morning hours. Among them were two beautiful pendants for Mrs. Danner, one of gold and pearls and one of gold mounted with diamonds and emeralds. Among the large number of remembrances was a solid silver, gold lined shaving mug with silver mounted brush.

One of the most interesting features of the event was a collection of souvenirs of the old days. The cost was by Mr. Danner when he went "a courtin'." It is a well preserved relic of the forties. It is a brown broadcloth swallow-tail, with brass buttons startlingly brilliant. Then there was the campaign cap Mrs. Danner wore when she was a lass of 16, and stacks of dagger copies of fliers and relatives, many of whom have long gone to their last account. A copy of the Olay Repository, yellow with age, contains Mr. Danner's advertisement. It is dated December 13, 1848.

The wedding breakfast was served in the spacious dining rooms. About fifty guests were seated around long tables made beautiful with hundreds of yellow roses. The colors in the decorations were white and yellow, and a corps of handsome little girls who attended the guests at table, wore gowns of pure white trimmed with broad bands of yellow. The breakfast was served in courses and was appropriately elaborate. Mrs. Amelia Zimmerman had charge of the election. The souvenirs were simple though elegant. They consisted of an original poem by Mrs. Alice Danner Jones, a daughter, which was handsomely bound and contained the photographs of the bride and bridesmaids, taken in the year of their marriage and at the present time, with the years 1847-1897 in gold.

During the day letters of congratulation came from all parts of the country and original poems were also received from distinguished friends. Tonight a reception will be held in honor of the event in the parlors of the First Baptist church. At that time many of the letters which refer to bygone days will be read and the poems will also be a feature of the evening. Sisters, of which Mrs. Danner is the first and only associate member, has prepared a greeting which will be read tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Danner came to Canton in 1849 from Massillon, where they resided two years. Mr. Danner was an original Cantonian, and like all who once breathe the atmosphere of the county's capital, he wanted to return to the old town, and he and his bride journeyed eight miles to the eastward. Massillon was at that time nearly twice the size of Canton, and the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Danner tried to persuade them to remain in the "metropolis," but they decided to return and in 1849 Mr. Danner opened a clothing store at the corner of Market and Seventh streets. He remained in that business until 1876 when he engaged in manufacturing, and all the world knows of the celebrated Danner relieving book cases which grace the libraries of every civilized nation of the earth.

John Danner, prohibitionist, is known almost as extensively as John Danner, manufacturer. He has been a lion in harness for the temperance cause for many years, and with indefatigable energy he pursues the object of his life—the downfall of the liquor traffic. He was one of the founders of the Baptist church, and with his good wife has been a potent factor in the steady progress of that denomination. It is the memory of all that this noble couple have done for the church that its members throw open the doors of the edifice tonight to the friends of one of Canton's most worthy couples.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding breakfast this morning were: Captains and Mrs. William Meredith, of Antio, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. George Slusser, of Fulton; Mr. and Mrs. William Slusser, of Brookfield; Mrs. John Metcalf, of Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. Helena Slusser, of Massillon.

A CONTRIBUTION.

Mrs. Kate Brownlee Sherwood has contributed to the occasion the following, under the caption, "The Golden Wedding, 1847-1897. To Mr. and Mrs. John Danner."

What shall we bring to the bride? Shall it be silver or gold? Many kind wishes on many fine dishes, And all of the wealth they can hold? Where shall we find the fine dishes? They shall be modeled of thought, Tried in the fire of the purest desire; By lives of fidelity wrought. Why shall we send our good wishes? They are the treasures of earth. No one can buy them and none can deny them, And no one can measure their worth. So shall we bring to the bride Better than silver and gold,— Many good wishes on many fine dishes— Prayers for blessings untold.

COURT IN SESSION.

JUDGES McCARTY AND TAYLOR ARE HEARING CASES.

A Man Under Bond Said to Have Been Making Threats But the Bond Is Not Increased—Other Court Matters of Interest.

Common pleas court convened Monday morning. The motion docket was heard by Judge McCarty and he then passed upon a few minor cases. That of V. L. Noy vs. The Noy Manufacturing Company, in which a motion was made to have plaintiff set forth separate causes of action in a suit for $38,000, was overruled, the court being of the opinion that there were no causes for separation. Exception to the ruling by the attorneys for defendant was noted.

OVERRULED.

In the matter of the estate of Louisa Meyer, deceased, exceptions to the administrator's account brought up from the probate court, were overruled by Judge McCarty and the account sustained. McCarty & McDowell represented B. B. Bowman, the administrator, and Fording & Harris the heirs.

MADE THREATS.

Prosecuting Attorney Pomerehne made a statement to the court that in the case of Ohio against Switzer, the Massillon man charged with throwing a cleaver at a Massillon butcher, the defendant since being released on $1,000 bail had made threats on the life of the prosecuting witness. He had also threatened to run away, claiming that the bail was a small matter. The prosecutor wanted the bond raised. Attorney Eggert for the defendant stated that Switzer was a poor man and that he would be unable to furnish a larger bond. Judge McCarty held that the bond was large enough and he would not disturb it.

CASE ON TRIAL.

The first case taken up today by Judge McCarty was that of Pinn vs. Porter, a suit to collect something over $400 alleged due the plaintiff. The case was suspended long enough after the noon adjournment to allow the hearing of the

DIVORCE CASE.

Of Susan C. Reed against William P. Reed. This is an Alliance case in which plaintiff in her petition alleges neglect and drunkenness. The parties had been married since 1894. Fording & Harris represented plaintiff, but Judge McCarty did not feel that the grounds had been sustained, and the case was dismissed.

FORECLOSURE CASE.

The case of the Home Savings and Loan Co. vs. J. S. McLean is on trial before Judge Taylor in room No. 2. This is a suit over a mortgage on property in which $3,000 is involved.

THE GRAND JURY.

The grand jury resumed its investigations at 10 o'clock this morning. Its work will be ended either Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning.

DISMISSED.

Judge Taylor heard the divorce case of Rachel Fording against Hugh Fording at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Wifely absence was charged, but the defendant had not been absent the three years required by law and the case was dismissed.

NEW CASE.

John Hair has sued Cyrus M. Lutz et al to recover $1,300, alleged due and secured by mortgage.

ACTION FOR DIVORCE.

Lydia E. Berlin has commenced an action for divorce against her husband, Henry Berlin, charging him with neglect of duty and non-support of his family. W. S. Earseman filed the petition.

Finally suggested.

It is said that an American went into a London bookeller's and asked for Hare's "Walks in London." In the United States it is printed in one volume, in England in two.

"Oh," said the Yankee as he looked at them, "you part your Hare in the middle, do you?"

"I, sir?" said the clerk, with a bewildered look. "Oh, no, sir!"

"I saw he didn't see the joke," said the Yankee, "so I didn't explain, but tonight the books went away. A week later I entered the same shop. As soon as the clerk saw me he approached me, exclaiming: 'Good, capital! Part your Hare in the middle! That's capital, sir—capital!'"—Anecdotes.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make the first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland.
